A STRUGGLE FOR LIFE.

Secretary Wickersham's Son Climbed a

Telegraph Pole, but Was Swept Away,

Colonel S. M. Wickersham, Secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Engineers' Society, lost his son Dick, aged 21 years, in the flood. The boy was a Government steel inspector at the Cambria Iron Works, and made a desperate struggle for his life. When the flood came he had no time to run to the mountains, and climbed a telegraph pole. He was seated on one of the crossarms, and seemed to be com-paratively safe. The force of the flood was too strong and the pole gave way, and the young man was drowned. His body has not yet been recovered.
